LULLABY WRITER GETS LITTLE NOW

Composer Of 'Rock-A-Bye Baby' Eking Out Bare Living

BOSTON, Jan. 8.—(AP)—Waning royalties from the famous old lullaby "Rock-A-Bye Baby, on the Tree Top," still eke out a bare living here for Mrs. Effie I. Canning Carlton, its author and composer.

As Mrs. Carlton, she wouldn't say how old she is, was found today living in quiet obscurity in the back bay. Her husband died in 1922.

Mrs. Carlton never had a baby of her own to rock, but she has composed herself with the thought that her melody is part of the lullaby of generations.

With a manuscript book of a couple of her lullabies, Mrs. Carlton, 71, has she came to write the lullaby sixty-two years ago.

"I was sitting on the porch of our summer home in Winthrop," she related, "when a guest asked me to keep an eye on her baby boy beside me in a hammock.

"When he began to squirm around, I rocked the hammock gently and the words of the Mother Goose rhyme, from which the first part of my song was taken, came into my mind.

"As I pushed, I recited the words and suddenly they seemed to sing themselves. You know, I just couldn't get that tune out of my head, and one day on a train I took out a piece of paper and a pencil and wrote the three verses.

"They became famous, and goodness, what a fuss people made about me in those days. Everywhere I went the hand broke into 'Rock-A-Bye Baby'.

"'Rock-A-Bye Baby' came into the limelight in congress this week when United States Representative Clifford B. Frazier, Democrat, Massachusetts, asked for a bill to grant Mrs. Carlton a pension of $10,000 a year for her lullaby, which, though simple, had not been forgotten.

TRUCKS TAKE OUT REBEL PRISONERS

Meanwhile, food, water and ammunition ran low.

They negotiated the surrender through the Tarnier Red Cross chairman. A small group, waving a white flag, emerged from Asuncion hospital early yesterday.

The offer was accepted and the exodus began in the afternoon with Lieutenant Colonel Rev. D'Harcourt leading 1,500 soldiers and 500 women and children into the government lines in groups of six.

Many were wounded and unable to walk. Several fainted. The first plea of all was for water. Physicians treated them while awaiting guards and help to protect them from violence.

Officers were convinced that the insurgents were offering no more close-quarter warfare. The intention to kill was abandoned. The rebels were allowed to leave their weapons and uniforms behind and to take only their personal belongings.

The trucks were loaded with the prisoners and the wounded. The trucks were then driven to the government lines. The prisoners were then taken to the government hospital. The wounded were taken to the government hospital. The trucks were then driven to the government lines.

SENATOR CARAWAY TO ASK RE-ELECTION

WASHINGTON, Jan. 8.—(AP)—Senator Hattie W. Caraway, Democrat, Arkansas, announced tonight she would seek re-election this year.

The Arkansas Democratic primary involving the senate post now held by Senator Caraway will be held the second Tuesday in August, and the election will be held in November.

Mrs. Caraway, in the senate six years, still holds the distinction of being the only woman to win full-term election to that body.

First appointed temporarily to fill the vacancy created by the death of her husband, Senator Thaddeus Caraway in 1931, she was subsequently elected to complete his unexpired term. In 1932 she offered for the full term in a campaign made spectacular by the participation of the late Senator Huey P. Long of Louisiana, who came into Arkansas to urge her reelection on a platform of liberal views, personal ability and the people's interest. She won a smashing victory over her opponent.

Purpose In Living

It is easy for earthlings to get befogged and lose sight of the main chance to get off the main track.

Here we are in a material world, living in material bodies, and working with material means. We must have the material wherewithal since we have material bodies to nourish and safeguard.

These bodies are necessary to us while we are here. So essential are they to us, and so important are material things in maintaining our material bodies, that we are liable to lose sight of the real objective of this life and to allow ourselves to become blinded to the momentous values of acquiring and maintaining a clear spiritual outlook. Unless we are forever watchful the lesser thing will obscure the greater thing—as a twenty-five cent piece held close to the eye will shut out the light of the world.

There is but one reason for our being in this material life, and that is to give us the opportunity to advance in a spiritual life. What would be the sense in being born into this existence and in going through all its trials and tribulations unless something better could come of it? And is it reasonable to suppose that anyone who has failed to fit himself for anything better will get anything better?

That in itself implies the necessity for dependence on a more potent agency than imperfect human beings can supply if the purposes of earthly living are to be achieved.

"If the spirit of God cannot be got going through the business men, the professional men and the politicians of this country," said a minister recently, "it cannot be got going at all."

"We preachers can't do it by ourselves," went on the minister. "The women can't do it. The mothers can't do it. I have seen many a young man who was brought up by his mother to be honest and upright go to work for some business man or professional man or some political outfit and speedily lose the fine principles his mother had so patiently drilled into him. The unethical, harmful examples and instructions he received from the men he had to work with and to work for, undid his mother's good work."

"The members of a church will hire a minister to take charge of their spiritual instruction," went on the minister, "and to act as a kind of watchman to their souls. They will imagine that by such methods their souls and the souls of their children will receive proper cultivation and nourishment. But all we preachers can do is to teach the word. We cannot make the word flesh. If the preached word is to do anything for them, our hearers must take it and make it bone of their bone and flesh of their flesh. No one can watch anyone's soul for him."

ECONOMISTS ASIDE

Economists don't know everything. They don't see everything. They aren't always right about what they see. Neither is anybody else.

But there are certain aspects of the recession or depression or whatever it is, that the economists might look into. It took the very acute sports commentator, Harry Grayson, to pick them out. Among other things Grayson notes:

That 264,070 people attended the New Year's day football games. That 36,000 jammed into New York's Madison Square Garden in two nights to see some box play basketball. That 1,000 did the same in Cleveland in one night—all the hall would hold.

That New Year's day attendance at Santa Anita race track was 60,000 compared to 55,000 a year ago, and that those people bet $939,529 as compared to $631,258 on the same day of 1937.

For learned economic comment go to the economists. But there would certainly seem to be quite a few people in this man's country who are unwilling to usher in 1938 by crying the blues.

POLYPOLY

While you're doing those mental gymnastics on monopoly and its evils, you might work out a while with this one—polyopoly!

Maybe we're going to have to learn not only some new ideas, but some new words to describe them. Polyopoly is an artificially coined word copyrighted by a Washington official. Here's how he did it:

If one man or one business dominate a trade situation, so as to be able to fix prices in that trade, that is monopoly. But if several different individuals or businesses, working in cahoots, achieve the same results, that polyopoly.

True, as Master Shakespeare long ago pointed out, "that which we call a rose by any other name would smell as sweet." And monopoly would be no less fragrant if we got into the habit of calling the variety of it polyopoly.

Time marches on and the great heroes of the gridiron are now just so many boys struggling desperately to make the grade in the economics, history and classics.

Natives of Florida are viewing with quiet satisfaction events in California, where one or two of the mountains are falling apart.

Oh, Liberty! What tyrannies are committed in thy name!

RHYME AND REASON

By ARNOLD CAMPBELL

ONLY IN DREAMS

Its walls are down . . . No longer glooms
 My mother's lamp by her hands set;
 Though I can see its light burn yet
 In all my dreams!

There is no trace of home where streams
 Cut through the meadows, and the crow
 Upon dark wings, croaks notes of woe,
 But in my dreams

I see its chimney rise, and beams
 Of morning light break through the panes,
 While I skip through remembered lanes
 Only in dreams!

TALK OF MONOPOLY

By BRUCE CATTON

Apparently we are entering into another era of trust-busting—or at least talk of trust-busting. "Playing monopoly" seems about to become more popular as a political game than it ever was as a parlor game.

Perhaps a little digging into the theory, the philosophy, back of the monopoly discussion won't do any harm.

Nobody defends monopoly. Everybody, capitalist or workman, joins in the cry that it is wrong. Therefore it would seem to violate something which Americans generally regard as fundamental.

What is this fundamental idea? The general thought is very simple. If all goods are made by individuals who sell them in free competition with the goods of any other individuals aiming at the same market, the consumer will get the best. He will get his goods at the lowest possible price, because the competition between sellers will constantly tend to force all prices down to the lowest point where the lowest-cost producer can make a profit.

That is the theory, and up to now it is certainly true that it has caused a greater variety and quantity of goods to be distributed here among more people than any other system in any other country.

Periodically there are great waves of protest that monopolies have sprung up, destroying the competitive principle that is the heart of our manner of doing things. That means simply that one man or one organization has each complete control over the making and selling of one article that he can charge what he likes, right up to the last cent people can pay.

That is the theory. But like all theories in practice it turns out to have been too simple. We long ago decided that some things must be monopolies. The purchase of two competing telephone lines running down the same street and two competing telephone exchanges had to be eliminated.

We have never admitted the competitive theory internationally but have always set up tariffs to keep foreign goods from competing in our markets. In many fields we have removed labor from competition by setting up closed shop monopolies of labor in certain fields, even the United States Supreme court has said that labor is not a commodity to be sold to the lowest bidder.

Recently we had the NRA, which permitted suspension of competition in certain other conditions were met. Still more recently we had the Celler-Vinson law suspending competition in international trade and the Minton-Tamm law permitting price-fixing by agreement in certain fields.

The anti-trust laws passed some 20 years ago to keep competition effective by making combinations in restraint of trade unlawful, have been largely ineffective.

The object of the coming discussion of monopoly is to find out what we want to do in regard to competition, and make laws that will do it.

A BOOK REVIEW

BENCHLEY'S LATEST IS SUPERB HUMOR

If the new year brings up to mind what is the worst threat of war and the current situation, it is not hard to see why Robert Benchley's latest book, "The World as I See It," is so timely.

Mr. Benchley has been writing a column for some time, and for a long time he has been writing a column for some time, and for a long time he has been writing a column for some time.

He is a collection of two and three-page short stories, graphic and humorous, written by Robert Benchley. The book is a collection of two and three-page short stories, graphic and humorous, written by Robert Benchley.

BEHIND THE SCENES IN WASHINGTON

By Rodney Dutcher

WASHINGTON—There are two reasons for playing cagey in any attempt to forecast the year 1938. One is that the outlook is uncommonly foggy.

The other reason is that anyone who was making predictions as to 1937 a year ago is compelled now to admit that he was at least 90 per cent all wet. The departing year began with business hopping right along, with a president just overwhelmingly elected and a prevalent belief that congress would give him everything he wanted. There was no end of talk about a new era of good feeling between government and business.

Hardly anyone expected Roosevelt's bold, ill-fated supreme court plan. No one anticipated a general election in which the opposition would be so strong. And no one expected the kind of economic depression that has been the result of the new administration's policies.

But now, as the year draws to a close, the outlook for 1938 is even more uncertain. The new administration's policies have led to a general feeling of pessimism among the public.

U. S. G. A. NAMES WALKER CUP TEAM FOR 1938

MODIFIES STYMIE RULE FOR 1 YEAR FOR 'TRIAL ONLY'

Francis Ouimet To Captain Group Of Nine Players And Two Alternates

By Bill Bond
NEW YORK, Jan. 8.—The United States Golf Association today named a 1938 Walker Cup golf team of nine players and two alternates to be captained by Francis Ouimet and adopted a one-year modification of the stymie rule.

The making of the team, which will meet the British at St. Andrews, Scotland, June 14, occasioned little surprise. In addition to Ouimet, Boston veteran who has been a member of each squad since the matches were inaugurated in 1927, the men invited to be on the team were:

Johnny Goodman of Omaha, Neb., National Amateur champion; Bill Jones of Philadelphia; S. V. Crenshaw of Cleveland; Donald Ross of Augusta; John F. Barber of Cincinnati; 1936 champion; and 1937 runner-up; Martin, Bill Ward of Chicago; Warren, Reynolds Smith, Dallas, Tex.; Ford Hays Jr. of New Orleans; and George H. Sayers, Jr., of New York City.

Alternates named were: Charles H. Sayers, Jr., of New York City; and Charles H. Sayers, Jr., of New York City.

The stymie rule modification provides that a ball which is stymied by another ball may be moved to any position on the green.

The team will be managed by Francis Ouimet, who was captain of the 1937 team.

MACHINERY SET IN MOTION FOR OLYMPIC FUNDS

Ground Work Laid For American Budget Raising By A. U. And N. C. A. A.

NEW YORK, Jan. 8.—Proceeding on the theory that the Far Eastern team formed to compete in time to stage the 1940 Olympic games in Tokyo, the executive committee of the American Olympic association today set in motion the machinery for United States participation at the estimated aggregate cost of $1,000,000.

Although it is not necessary to raise the money for the $1,000,000 required to send the American expedition to Tokyo, it is necessary to raise a current estimate of $1,000,000 in American money to cover the expenses of the expedition.

REPORT GIVEN ON YEAR'S ACTIVITIES OF MONROE MATERNITY WELFARE GROUP

Report on the activities of the Monroe Maternity Welfare clinic during the past year, Dr. W. F. Guerrero, director of the clinic, Saturday stated that since actual service was established on March 13, last year, the clinic has admitted for care a total of 132 mothers, of which 94 were white and 38 colored; 25 white mothers and 20 colored mothers were delivered at their homes by physicians and nurses cooperating in the clinic work, and 16 white and four colored mothers were delivered in hospitals because of some abnormality which made home delivery dangerous.

The Monroe Maternity Welfare clinic is sponsored by the Catholic Daughters of America in cooperation with the Louisiana state board of health and operates under an organization and maintenance plan prepared by Dr. Guerrero.

The clinic is designed to give antenatal and post-natal service to indigent and semi-indigent mothers of the Ouachita parish, with home delivery service confined to the cities of Monroe and West Monroe. Only those mothers whose incomes are in the lower bracket are eligible for clinic service which is designed to provide proper care for those who heretofore were unable to obtain it.

The clinic medical service is provided by Dr. Guerrero and Dr. C. R. Gray, Jr. Nursing and laboratory service is provided by the Louisiana state board of health through the Ouachita parish health unit. The clinic itself is located in a building on the grounds of St. Francis seminary, which represents that institution's contribution to the work. Layettes have been furnished by the Jewish Temple and the WPA sewing project.

The clinic is held each Monday from 8 a.m. to 10 a.m. for white mothers, and every Thursday during the same hours for colored mothers.

LIEUT. H. GOODWIN GIVEN PROMOTION

Monroe Man Placed in Charge U. S. Naval Training Squadron

Word has just been received here to the effect that Hugh Hilton Goodwin, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. T. Goodwin, 412 Calypso street, has just been promoted to the post of lieutenant-commander in charge of the United States naval training squadron at Pensacola, Fla. Lieutenant Goodwin is a native of Monroe, where he received his early education.

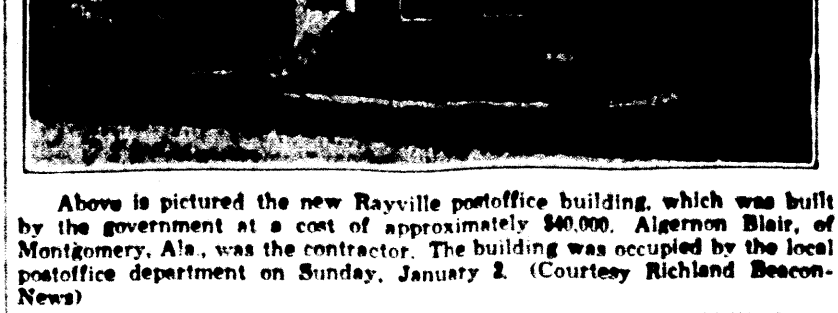

He enlisted in the United States navy during the World war, having completed his studies in high school in Monroe, and in 1918 entered the naval academy at Annapolis, where he was graduated in 1922. He was assigned to the naval air service and has had extensive experience, being assigned at various times to South America, China and points in Europe.

Lieutenant Goodwin was married in 1923 to Miss Elmer Welby of San Francisco, and is the father of two children.

He will continue in his duties in Pensacola until next June, when he will be stationed on the Pacific coast. The lieutenant has made frequent visits to his parents in Monroe, having been here as recently as the Christmas holidays two weeks ago.

World wheat supplies for 1937-38 are estimated to be about fifty-five million bushels larger than last year.

NEW RAYVILLE POSTOFFICE BUILDING

Above is pictured the new Rayville postoffice building, which was built by the government at a cost of approximately $40,000. Algernon Blair, of Montgomery, Ala., was the contractor. The building was occupied by the local postoffice department on Sunday, January 2. (Courtesy Richard Beeson-News)

Stinson, J. S. Harris, R. L. Reese and George Nicol. All of the retiring members have served as directors for three years except Mr. Nicol, who completed the unexpired term of O. O. Goynes.

The committee to nominate the new president is composed of W. J. Lewis, F. S. Price and W. E. McBride, retiring president of the chamber of commerce. The new president will assume office on January 14, when the commerce body will conduct its annual banquet in the basement of the Methodist educational building. The theme of the occasion will be "Louisiana Tech-Ruston and Education," with President E. S. Richardson of Louisiana Tech delivering the principal address.

40 AND 8 WILL GIVE BARBECUE

Proceeds Will Be Used For Benefit Of Crippled Children's Clinic

Plans for the first annual Forty and Eight chicken barbecue and dance next Thursday at Three Mile inn are progressing nicely, announced S. E. Dodd, chairman of the entertainment committee. The proceeds will be used for the benefit of crippled children's clinics.

Six big entrance prizes will be given away and the Three Mile inn orchestra will furnish the music. The dance will start at 8 p.m. Tickets can be secured from Chairman Dodd and members of the Forty and Eight, also by mail.

The grand venture of Louisiana has always been very much interested in providing clinics for crippled children, and with the cooperation of the American Legion, auxiliary has annually promoted this very worthwhile objective in one or more congressional districts throughout the state, said Chairman Dodd, and at the time with the menace of an increased inflation in 1938 in the state of inflation, the petalists, such as the subsequent crippling of about 40 per cent of the children, the state of Louisiana, the Forty and Eight is demonstrating to the public that it is a serious matter to come to child welfare work.

These crippled children clinics are conducted by the state department of health and are open to the public.

TECH GRADUATING CLASS MAY BE REPRESENTED ON ALUMNI GROUP'S BOARD

RUSTON, La., Jan. 8.—(Special)—For the first time graduating classes at Louisiana Tech will be represented on the board of directors of the Tech Alumni association, if a scheduled revision of the organization's constitution is adopted. Loris M. Wimberly, of Arcadia, president of the association, made this suggestion at a recent meeting of the board in Ruston, and he was authorized to appoint a committee to incorporate the idea into the constitution.

President E. S. Richardson of Tech, at the same meeting, told the board of the college's favorable outlook for expansion of its physical plant.

D. G. Armstrong, secretary, made a report to the board on the recent organization of a parish unit of the alumni in north Louisiana. He was encouraged by the group to continue his efforts along these lines.

George Nicol, Ruston business man, extended an invitation to the alumni board of directors to attend a banquet of commerce banquet here at 7 p.m. Tuesday, January 12, in the Methodist educational building. The affair would be held in connection with the annual meeting of the Ruston Chamber of Commerce.

Other guests present at the banquet included W. F. Blair, Ruston, and H. J. Moore, Jr., of Ruston, and Robert Price, of Ruston.

CLARKSON URGES SEAL REMITTANCE

Many Persons Who Received T. B. Tokens Have Made No Report

A. B. Clarkson, chairman of the Christmas seal campaign of the Ouachita Parish Tuberculosis and Public Health association, issued a request Saturday night urging all persons who have not yet remitted their contributions for the Christmas seal campaign to do so without delay, so that a final check-up of the campaign may be made before the annual meeting of the association Tuesday afternoon.

"Quite a large number of persons to whom seals were sent during the campaign," Mr. Clarkson said, "have not yet remitted for them. They have probably overlooked the matter in the rush of the holiday season. We would appreciate it very much if these persons would make their remittance promptly so that a final accounting may be made of the seals sent out by the campaign committee."

Mr. Clarkson said that the sale of the seals was a successful one, and that the campaign had been a very successful one. He said that the campaign had been a very successful one, and that the campaign had been a very successful one.

Many New Year Resolutions Pass Into Oblivion As Thoughts Turn To Future

More Carol Singers Planned Next Year

Spring Definitely On The Way; Natchez Garden Pilgrimage Scheduled In March

By Eve Bradford
EIGHT SHINING days of the new year have been spent. Resolutions made with high resolve just a week ago have no doubt been broken. But there is always the possibility, just like the chance of making a hole in one at golf, that the resolution will be kept through the entire year. At least it makes life a little more exciting to watch out for such phenomena. The main thing is that most persons at least once a year take time to discover that they themselves have a few faults and this takes their mind off criticizing other people.

Thelma Gush, made a resolution that will be kept to the letter if she is any judge of human nature. Her purpose is to have a larger group of boys than last year to join the Christmas choir from house to house on Christmas eve. The choir is the custom of the choir of the Methodist church and is a very old custom. The choir is made up of boys of all ages and is a very popular feature of the Christmas season. The choir is made up of boys of all ages and is a very popular feature of the Christmas season. The choir is made up of boys of all ages and is a very popular feature of the Christmas season.

We have indeed come a long way since the first New Year's resolutions. The resolutions of the past were often made in a spirit of optimism and were often broken. The resolutions of the present are often made in a spirit of realism and are often kept. The resolutions of the past were often made in a spirit of optimism and were often broken. # Dr. Carolyn Tiebout Delivers Instructive Lecture At Parish Courthouse

P.-T. A. Council Hears Talk On Adolescence

Address Was Third Of Series Being Given In City By State University Lecturer

Typical emotional conflicts of adolescence were discussed by Dr. Carolyn Tiebout of Louisiana State university in the third of the series of lectures being given in Monroe on the first Thursday of each month at the parish courthouse. The lecture course is open to the public and is sponsored by the Twin City P.-T. A. council.

Emotional outbursts occur at adolescence because of the perplexity and uncertainty of status characteristic of this period, the speaker pointed out. During approximately seven years of adolescence, the human being must normally pass quite completely from one set of habit to another. Dr. Tiebout continued. The adolescent has to break habits of obedience and dependence which are proper to the immature child and must, on the other hand, build up habits of self-determination and self-reliance which are suitable to the adult.

Long Dress Question One That Never Ends

The question of a long dress—a formal, so to speak—is a never ending source of exasperation for the woman whose social life is, for the most part, limited and informal. Whether to try to have a long dress, whether to wear it after she gets it, whether other women to be present will be dressed formally!

The chances are that she goes through a long, indeterminate stage in which opportunities seem to be continually arising which almost demand a long dress. Perhaps her bridge club has a sort of formal dinner occasionally at which husbands are included and to which several of the "girls" wear long dresses. She can manage, of course, with her flattery little afternoon chiffern—but still a long dress would be very nice.

Perhaps her husband's lodge or club decides to have a series of dinner dances and what on earth shall she wear? Even though the members dress in pajamas to dress for the occasion, even though the end of the evening may find them gathered around the bar, a long dress is a long dress.

GOALS BY HOLLAND

Secretary Speaks At Missouri Pacific Booster Meeting Friday Night

A program of entertainment and instruction combined to please the diversified throng of young and old assembled at the Missouri Pacific booster meeting held at the Ouchita avenue clubhouse, Friday night. Headliners of the program were Jeannette Mae Smith, 14-year-old prodigy, who presented a series of musical numbers on the marimba, attesting unusual skill on this unusual instrument, and George D. Holland, secretary of the chamber of commerce, who discussed functions of that organization.

Community singing was led by Dallas Cross of the faculty of the North-Center of Louisiana State university, accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Goss. The invocation was by Rev. D. D. Cantrell, pastor of the Central Baptist church. A trumpet solo, by James Bradley, accompanied by Lowry Jefferson, pianist, received hearty applause as did a reading by Frances Smith. Billy Moran gave several piano solos while Scott Benson's exhibition of the dancing pleased the audience.

A tenor solo by Louis Deane, accompanied by Mack Fay Hammond at the piano, brought forth demand for an encore which the artists rendered.

Surprise features not on the program were the presentation of Mayor H. H. Bennett, who responded briefly, and J. S. Bennett, local Missouri Pacific railroad division superintendent, who told of some of the conditions now being encountered by the road. He assured that the Louisiana and Little Rock division is in better condition than most divisions of the road and that more men are employed now than two years ago. He said he has been taken off the division and one passenger train has been added between Little Rock and Monroe.

Mr. Holland, in the chief address of the evening, complimented the railroad for the fine spirit of comradeship and fellowship that is shown in a booster club meeting. He stated that the railroad has been partners in the development of the country and is responsible for much of its development.

"Just what are the purposes and objects of the Chamber of Commerce of Monroe and West Monroe?" he asked, reverting to consideration of the chamber of commerce. "It is composed of people who are in the Twin Cities, joined together to advance the interests of the community. The chamber of commerce is a body which is not limited but is also found that they were joined together in that regard. If there were no chamber of commerce, how much more are they needed, all now in one far more complicated development. A chamber of commerce is an organization of business men who are the backbone of the community, endeavoring to bring in and create new industries when possible and to raise the income of the people thereby increasing the standards of living. How is this to be done? A chamber of commerce should serve in two fields. First there are problems that arise from expansion and expansion that require expansion. The effect, if taken care of, is to keep the chamber in the water, safeguarding and protecting business interests. But this must not be the only activity. There must be a wide program. The Twin City spirit of the chamber of commerce was extended to the chamber of commerce in the Twin Cities, each giving a hand as to what might make life happier and better, by the cities and the chamber of commerce and standards of living generally."

"The chamber of commerce has no monopoly on it. It has the right to be a job done by a group of men who study problems and solve them as an effective work program can be accomplished. The speaker ended by pledging the hearty support of the chamber in any work and all ways that it can be of assistance to the railroad."

Refreshments and a social hour completed the night's program.

ROY WILL SPEAK ON SAFE DRIVING

Director Of State Department To Address Neville Parent-Teachers

Colonel E. P. Roy, director of the Louisiana department of safety, will launch the campaign for initiation of driving safety in high schools of the state, here tomorrow night in an address before the Neville High School Parent-Teacher association beginning at 7:30 o'clock in the Neville auditorium.

Woodrow Turner, teacher and athletic coach at Ouchita Parish high school, who qualified at a recent teachers' driving course at Baton Rouge to teach driving safety in Ouchita schools, also plans to appear on the program with Colonel Roy.

Colonel Roy also announced through a letter to Mr. Turner here yesterday that he would give a state-wide radio broadcast next Thursday night from 8 to 10 o'clock, when he will not only explain the entire safety program as outlined for initiation in the schools by the department of education, but he will also go into detail in explaining the driver training.

His address to the Parent-Teacher group tomorrow night will be broadcast over KMLB from 8 to 8:30 p.m. The subject of his address will be "Driver Safety Course and Driver Training in the High Schools."

The purpose of the teachers training course at Baton Rouge, which was attended by representative teachers from the parishes of the state, was to so instruct teachers that they might return to their respective parishes to teach other instructors who would in turn assist in the instruction of high school students in driving safety.

The safety program is being presented to various school superintendents, school boards, automobile dealers and other safety groups in order that the course may be added to high school curriculum during the next term of school.

BUILDING, LOAN SHARES INSURED

Certificate Affords Protection For Investors In Home Financing

Savings invested in shares of the Monroe Building and Loan association are now insured by the Federal Savings and Loan Insurance corporation, an agency of the United States government, Louis Buckner, president of the association, announces upon receipt of a certificate of insurance from the Federal Home Loan bank board in Washington. Each individual investor in the association is now protected against loss of his account up to $3,000.

The Federal Savings and Loan Insurance corporation, created by Congress in 1934, affords protection for investors in thrift and home financing institutions, similar to that given depositors in commercial banks by the Federal Deposit Insurance corporation, but with one material distinction. The FDIC, organized in 1933, insures the liquidity of bank deposits, while the Federal Savings and Loan Insurance corporation operates in the fields of long-term savings and home-financing, insuring the safety of investors' funds.

All federal savings and loan associations are required to qualify for insurance. That our association has been admitted to insurance of accounts means that our assets are rated at as high a grade as that of any of the government is willing to insure its investments in the association against possible future loss, said Mr. Buckner.

Insurance is extended only to well-managed thrift institutions, our association is thus approved as to policies and operating methods. All accounts now on the association's books and future additions thereto are covered by insurance up to $3,000 each, regardless of the time they were opened and, of course, all new accounts will be insured," Mr. Buckner explained.

"The financial breakdown of a few years ago disclosed an imperative need for protection of long-term savings invested for income in the thrift and home-financing institutions of the country, which aggregate almost $6,000,000,000, held by nearly 8,000,000 people, largely wage-earners," continued Mr. Buckner. "This condition brought about the creation of the Federal Savings and Loan Insurance corporation which has a capital of $100,000,000, subscribed and paid in by the government. The corporation is also building up a substantial reserve fund from annual premiums paid by insured institutions."
